

SHOOT DAY — May 6, 2026

Victor Carlsbad Job Site

Total time on site: 4 hours. End goal: 8 ad cuts ready to launch Friday. Format: conversation-led, not script-led. Peter prompts, Victor talks, Peter closes.

WHO DOES WHAT

Person	Role
Dani	Camera. Audio. Site lead. Talks to Victor between takes. Owns this checklist.
Peter	On-camera prompter. Closing-tag voice. Pulls receipts (texts, leads, numbers) on his phone for fact-check moments.
Victor	On-camera client. Speaks naturally. No memorizing.

BEFORE LEAVING (Dani, morning)

- ☐ Camera body charged + 2nd battery
- ☐ Gimbal charged
- ☐ DJI Mic 2 lavs charged + receiver
- ☐ Wired lav backup in bag
- ☐ Headphones
- ☐ SD cards (128GB+) formatted
- ☐ Hard hats x2
- ☐ Phone tripod for behind-the-scenes
- ☐ Phone fully charged (Peter needs his to fact-check on camera)
- ☐ Reflector / pop-up bounce
- ☐ Power bank
- ☐ Lens wipes
- ☐ Notebook
- ☐ Drive folder created: /SCALE/Ads/2026-05-06-Victor-Carlsbad/raw/

BEFORE ROLLING (on site, first 30 min)

- ☐ Walk site with Victor. Pick 3 backgrounds:
 - A. Active work area (drilling, painting, install in progress)
 - B. Finished surface (clean tile, completed bathroom, polished work)
 - C. Wide angle (full site, materials laid out, crew movement)
 - ☐ Lav check on Peter and Victor. Lavs on chest, NOT collar.
 - ☐ Headphones on. Listen to first 10 seconds of audio. If you hear AC hum, fabric rustle, or wind, fix before rolling.
 - ☐ Test light. Move to shaded side if midday sun is harsh.
 - ☐ Confirm Victor knows: "talk normal. Don't try to sound smart. If you don't remember a number, say so."
-

WHAT WE'RE SHOOTING (8 cuts, in this order)

Cut 1 — Conversation Set A: "Too Busy to Count"

Length goal in edit: 15-20s Format: Peter and Victor on site, both visible. Active work behind them.

How it goes

Peter prompts. Victor answers naturally. Peter pulls receipts.

Peter: "Victor, how many leads we sent you last month?" Victor: [downplay, hedge, "honestly I don't know," "a lot," "quite a few"] Peter: [pulls phone] "I'm seeing about {actual number} in our log." Victor: "Yeah, I'd have to look. Been busy." Peter (turns to camera): "See, this guy's too busy with jobs to count the leads. That's a good thing."

Coaching for Victor

- Don't memorize. Just talk to Peter.
- The hedging IS the proof. Don't try to give a confident number.
- It's fine to say "I don't remember." That's the whole point.

Coaching for Peter

- Pull the actual number from a real text or our GHJ log on your phone. Show your phone screen briefly if natural.
- Don't sound like a salesman closing. You're the receipts-keeper.
- The closing tag is the punchline. Deliver it deadpan to camera, half-smile.

Run 3 takes minimum.

Cut 2 — Conversation Set B: "How Long, How Much"

Length goal in edit: 20-30s Format: Peter prompts a longer revenue-anchored testimonial.

How it goes

Peter: "How long have you been working with us, Victor?" Victor: [answers natural — 3 months, 4 months, whatever] Peter: "How's the calendar looking now compared to before?"

Victor: [natural answer — fuller, picking jobs, etc.] Peter: "And how much new work has come through us, ballpark?" Victor: [hedge, lowball, "a few jobs," "not totally sure"] Peter: [phone glance] "I think it was {figure}. We can pull the breakdown later." Victor: "Could be. Either way I'm not complaining." Peter (to camera): "That's the difference. Ads that put your real work in front of real local homeowners."

Numbers rule

- Only say a dollar figure on camera if Dani and Ashen can verify it from records tonight.
- If unsure, edit around the number. Keep the conversational vibe.
- "Either way I'm not complaining" is the safety phrase if a number gets dropped in edit.

Run 3 takes.

Cut 3 — Conversation Set C: "What Was the Phone Like Before?"

Length goal in edit: 15-25s Format: Pain-driven. Sets up the "now" by describing the "before."

How it goes

Peter: "What was the phone like before we started?" Victor: [natural — slow, inconsistent, dependent on referrals] Peter: "What were you doing to fill it?" Victor: [natural — referrals, word of mouth, working long hours] Peter: "And now?" Victor: [natural — picking jobs, calendar fuller, more predictable] Peter (to camera): "That's what it looks like when the phone works. If you want the same thing, link's below."

Coaching for Victor

- Be specific about the "before." Pain points sell. "I was waking up wondering where the next job was coming from" is gold.
- Don't sell us. Tell the story.

Run 2 takes.

Cut 4 — Victor Solo Monologue: "Times Are Changing"

Length goal in edit: 15-20s Format: Victor alone, in his truck OR sitting on a finished surface. Peter off-camera.

Prompt before rolling

Peter says off-camera: "Victor, just tell the camera in your own words why a contractor in 2026 needs marketing. Don't sell us. Just tell the truth from your perspective."

What we want him to say (in his own words)

- He used to think marketing was for other people / a luxury / unnecessary
- He realized referrals weren't enough anymore
- The phone was slow and he didn't know why
- Once he started running ads, things changed
- He recommends it to other contractors now

Don't script it.

- Run 4-5 takes minimum, each ~30-45 seconds. Edit will pull the strongest 15-20s line.
- Casual profanity is fine if it's natural to him. Cesar's clients use it. It reads as real.

Cut 5 — Peter Solo Anchor: 5-Second Teaser

Length goal in edit: 5s exactly Format: Peter alone, looking at lens, on the active job site. Hard hat on.

What Peter says (verbatim)

"Carlsbad GCs. Your work isn't the problem. Your system is."

Body overlay (added in post)

"Real ads. Real homeowners. Real local. 90 exclusive leads in 12 weeks, yours alone. DM us 'SCALE'."

Coaching

- 5 seconds. 11 spoken words. Don't add anything.
- Don't smile. Direct lens. Confident. Half a step toward camera as you say it.
- Run 5-7 takes. Pick the cleanest in edit.

Cut 6 — Peter Solo: Hyper-Local 15s

Length goal in edit: 15s Format: Peter alone, walking through finished space.

What Peter says

"Carlsbad GCs. You're working harder than the guy a mile away. He's still booked and you're not. The difference is who homeowners see first."

Body overlay

✅ Hyper-local ads, North County only ✅ Real Carlsbad job sites, no stock ✅ 90 exclusive leads in 12 weeks CTA: "Comment 'SCALE'."

Coaching

- Walk while talking. Movement keeps eyes on the screen.
- Pace: slow on the first sentence, faster on the comparison, slow again on the closing.

Cut 7 — Job Site Walkthrough: Cesar-Style

Length goal in edit: 30-45s Format: Peter walks the site, narrates what's being built. Camera follows.

What Peter does

- Start at the front of the active site. "Hey, we're here in Carlsbad with one of our clients, Victor. Let me show you what's going on today."
- Walk to area A (active work). Describe what's being built. Point at materials.
- Walk to area B (finished work). Show the result. Casual aside about scale or quality.
- Land at Victor briefly. "This is Victor, the GC. He's why this site moves. We do his marketing. He does the work."
- Tag to camera: "If you're a contractor in San Diego and you want your work in front of real local homeowners, link's below."

Coaching for Peter

- This is unscripted. Just walk and talk.
- Casual profanity is fine if natural ("this thing's huge," "this is sick").
- Don't sell. Show.
- Camera (Dani) follows on gimbal. Smooth movement.

One full pass + retake the closing tag standalone in case the walk audio is messy.

Cut 8 — Hook Bank: 7 Quick Hooks (Peter alone, clean BG)

Length goal in edit: 5-7 separate 3-second clips Format: Peter against a clean wall or finished surface. Direct lens. No movement.

What Peter says (deliver each one as its own take)

1. "If you're a contractor in San Diego and you want more jobs, watch this."
2. "Most contractors are buying leads that 4 other guys already called."
3. "Your phone should be ringing every day. If it's not, this is why."
4. "Slow season doesn't exist for the contractors using this."
5. "Pool contractors, HVAC, roofers, GCs in San Diego, this is for you."
6. "Carlsbad GCs. There's a contractor a mile from you booking jobs you should have."
7. "Want a fully booked Q3? Stop hustling harder. Start advertising smarter."

Coaching

- Each hook is 1 take. Direct delivery. No "let me try again" mid-take.
 - Run 2 takes per hook minimum.
 - We swap these on top of Cut 5 / Cut 6 in edit to test which hook pulls.
-

B-ROLL CHECKLIST (between cuts)

Dani: get all of these. Most are 5-10 second clips.

- ☐ Wide shot, full job site, daytime
- ☐ Tools laid out
- ☐ Hands working a surface (drilling, painting, sanding, mudding)
- ☐ Finished bathroom or finished surface (the hero shot)
- ☐ Victor walking onto / through the site
- ☐ Peter walking up to the site, hard hat on
- ☐ Slow pan across materials
- ☐ Truck / branded vehicle (any)
- ☐ Notebook / clipboard / blueprints detail
- ☐ Peter's hand on phone (texts visible if possible — for the fact-check moment in Cut 1 and Cut 2)

BEHIND THE SCENES (phone shot, for Tad)

- ☐ Dani on the gimbal
 - ☐ Peter checking a take
 - ☐ Setup of lavs
 - ☐ End-of-day group shot
-

CAPTURE RULES (Dani, every cut)

Spec	Setting
Aspect	Vertical 9:16 primary
Resolution	4K minimum
Frame rate	60fps for movement, 24fps for talking-head
Audio	Lavs on chest. Monitor with headphones EVERY setup change.
File naming	2026-05-06_Victor_Cut{N}_take{N}.mp4
Backup	Dual-slot card if available. Otherwise upload to Drive at lunch break.

RUN OF SHOW (4 hours on site)

Time	Block	What
0:00	Arrival & setup	Walk site. Lav check. Pick 3 backgrounds.
0:30	B-roll first	Get all the b-roll list before talent fatigue.
1:00	Cut 1 (Too Busy to Count)	3 takes, ~15 min.
1:15	Cut 2 (How Long, How Much)	3 takes, ~20 min.
1:35	Cut 3 (What Was Phone Like)	2 takes, ~15 min.
1:50	Break	Water, check uploads. 10 min.
2:00	Cut 4 (Victor Solo)	4-5 takes, ~25 min. Truck or finished space.
2:25	Cut 5 (Peter 5s anchor)	5-7 takes, ~10 min.
2:35	Cut 6 (Hyper-local 15s)	3 takes, ~10 min.
2:45	Cut 7 (Walkthrough)	One full pass + retake tag, ~25 min.
3:10	Cut 8 (Hook bank)	14 takes (7 hooks x 2), ~25 min.
3:35	BTS / wrap-up B-roll	15 min.
3:50	Pack up, thank Victor, confirm shot list checked	10 min.
4:00	LEAVE SITE

If running short, drop Cut 7 first (walkthrough), then Cut 6. Cuts 1-5 + Cut 8 are the floor.

AFTER THE SHOOT (Dani, by 6pm)

- ☐ All raw uploaded to Drive /SCALE/Ads/2026-05-06-Victor-Carlsbad/raw/
 - ☐ File naming verified
 - ☐ Slack post in #all-tools : "Shoot wrapped. {N} takes per cut. Editor handoff AM."
 - ☐ Slack ping to Ashen with totals so he can audit verifiable numbers from Cut 2 tonight
-

WHAT MAKES THIS DIFFERENT FROM SPARK

We watched 13 of Spark's longest-running ads. Here's what we're stealing and what we're improving.

Stealing: - Conversational dialogue format (their longest-runner is 145 days using this) - Hedging and forgetting numbers (Cesar's clients downplay; we'll do the same) - Cesar-as-receipts-keeper move (Peter pulls phone for fact-check) - "Comment 'X' below" CTA pattern - 5-second teaser with mostly-overlay format

Improving:

Spark does	We do
Cesar in truck or office	Peter ON THE ACTIVE JOB SITE (visual wedge they can't replicate)
Generic "California" framing	Hyper-local "Carlsbad" / "North County"
English only	English today, Spanish track on TikTok next shoot
"90 leads guaranteed"	"90 EXCLUSIVE leads, yours alone, never shared"
Comment "ADS"	Comment "SCALE"
Stock B-roll of trucks	Real B-roll of Victor's actual work
Cesar fact-checks from memory	Peter pulls phone to show the actual texts
Single-language testimonials	Bilingual planned

Print this. Bring it to set. Don't read scripts off a phone.

Last updated: 2026-05-06 morning.